

Train to teach with the Brent Teaching School Alliance

We are looking for ambitious individuals who demonstrate their passion and enthusiasm for teaching and have a desire to share this with young people.

Recruiting now for September 2017.

The Brent Teaching School Alliance (BTSA) is a strong partnership of primary and secondary schools working with the Institute of Education to provide high quality teacher training amongst our mainly 'outstanding' establishments. Our vision is to train and develop the next generation of outstanding teachers for Brent schools.

The consortium of schools involved in the delivery of Initial Teacher Training has a high level of expertise and strong commitment to delivering high quality training. We have a proven track record, successfully training teachers for many years.

In partnership with Brent, the BTSA can provide a broad range of experiences and developmental opportunities within a multi-culturally diverse population, which enriches the experience of teaching within this unique community.

Initial Teacher Training students will be trained in a highly supportive and aspirational environment and will develop the rigour, professional knowledge, understanding and skills necessary for the delivery of creative, purposeful and challenging teaching and learning. Training will be delivered by expert teachers in the partnership schools. This will be enhanced by attendance at the Institute of Education. Students will have full access to the university, a dynamic facilitator of both innovative and traditional approaches to teacher training.
